OF COLLEGE AND PAGEANT PLANS*Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Founding Will Be Celebrated
By Historical Revival

Assembled in the dining room of Dole Hall for an alumni supper, the graduates and former students of Punahou last night held one of the most enthusiastic and successful meetings in the history of the school. Presided over by Henry P. Judd, president of the Alumni Association, the meeting gave expression to outbursts of Punahou spirit which augur well for the larger plans of the association for the coming year.

The plans for the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the school were announced in detail. The alumni were appealed to support the Corporation and the committees in making the celebration worthy and successful. The tentative plan for the celebration is as follows:

(a) Time—Wednesday and Thursday, June 20-21, 1916.

(b) Events—1. Anniversary Program—a defunct program commemorating the Diamond Jubilee. 2. Punahou Pageant—the presentation in literary and dramatic form of the legend and history of Punahou. 3. Punahou day at the school—a day given over to sports, feasting, jollification and conviviality. 4. Alumni Reunion—the biggest gathering in the history of the school.

(c) Roster of old students. The preparation of the list of students, teachers, trustees, and officers who have been connected with the school is now under way.

(d) Raising money for the endowment.

An alumni fund for the general endowment was enthusiastically started. President Judd announced that a friend whose name for the present was withheld had offered to give $1000 to Punahou if not less than 50 other old students would come forward and subscribe $1 each to the fund. He was more interested in the number of persons subscribing than in the amount of their subscriptions. Papers were passed around and 62 old students subscribed more than $700. The conditions of the gift were fulfilled on the spot.

The officers for next year were elected as follows: President, William T. Rawlins; vice-president, Ethel M. Damon; secretary-treasurer, Edmund F. Melanphy. With their enthusiasm, the Alumni Association will play an assured part in the year's event.

The announcement made by Mrs. Charles H. Kluegel that Mabel Wilcox, a member of the graduating class, had won at Mills College a scholarship of $300 owing to her high average—over 90 per cent—at Punahou was received with applause.

The program continued with talks about the anniversary. W. F. Dillingham spoke of the growth of the Punahou spirit in the school and urged that the students who had left the school get together and apply it to the support of the institution that had done so much for them.

A. P. Judd, chairman of the anniversary celebration committee, outlined the plans of the celebration and bespoke from the old students their cordial interest and support. Frank C. Atherton, speaking for the financial part of the program, presented the needs of Punahou, a careful analysis of the cost of the education that the school furnishes and an urgent appeal to the old students to give tangible and material expression to the aloha which is felt for Punahou.

The needs of Oahu, as outlined by the trustees, are as follows:

Endowment funds needed by Oahu College.

Alumni fund, $50,000—Endowment for teachers' salaries.

Library, $50,000—Administrative expenses.

Athletics, $50,000—Salaries of instructors and upkeep of field.

Manual Training and Domestic Science, $50,000—Building, equipment and administrative expense.

Science Department, $25,000—Salary of instructor and general school singing.

Auditorium or Alumni Hall, $50,000—Auditorium large enough to seat both schools, for general gatherings, commencement exercises, entertainments, etc.

English Department, $50,000—Administrative expense.

Music Department, $30,000—building for all branches of the music department, vocal, violin and piano.

Music Scholarships, piano, with two half-hour lessons per week, $30; $30 per year—6 per cent on $1500—10 scholarships, $15,000; vocal, two half-hour lessons per week, $11; $11 plus music, say $9, $120—6 per cent on $2000—5 scholarships, $10,000.

Boarding Department, $25,000—Annual cost of student in boarding department, about $305 per year—6 per cent on $5000, say 5 scholarships at $5000.

School Building, $30,000—Building to accommodate the 7th and 8th grammar school grades and freshman academy grade.

Amphitheater, $25,000.

Open Air Gymnasium, $50,000—Comprising hall, locker rooms, cafeteria, etc.

Mary P. Winne and Ethel M. Damon, who are in direct charge of the preparation of the pageant, gave an amusing account of their difficulties in collecting material and asked for the cooperation of the students, young and old, in making successful this most important part of the program for next year.

President Griffiths gave a stirring talk on the service to the school of the teachers for whom there should be adequate compensation, on the meaning of Punahou to Honolulu and Hawaii.

wall and on the value to the old students themselves of a crystallization and expression of their Punahou loyalty.

George P. Castle humorously and effectively likened the alumni fund to a snowball and urged all to help it grow.

The meeting was preceded and followed by a general renewal of old acquaintances and of reminiscences of old Punahou days.

Among those present were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Emerson, G. P. Castle, W. W. Chamberlain, A. J. Lowrey, W. J. Forbes, Samuel Decker, C. T. Fitts, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Judd, Miss Agnes Judd, Mr. and Mrs. F. SOCIETY

Mr. James C. McCandless

Weds Oakland Girl.

The wedding of Miss Marion Rodolph of East Oakland, Cal., and Mr. James C. McCandless, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCandless of Honolulu, took place in Oakland on the evening of June 8. The San Francisco Chronicle says:

"One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place last night when Marion Rodolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rodolph of East Oakland, became the bride of James McCandless, a member of a prominent family in Honolulu. A bower of white gladiolas and dainty greenery furnished a setting for the exchange of nuptial vows, which was witnessed by 150 guests. The Rodolph home in East Oakland was decorated elaborately. The living room was done in white gladiolas; the reception hall in yellow Scotch broom; and the dining room and large marquee, where supper was served, in pink. Red furnished the dominating decorative note for the billiard room.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her younger sister, Miss Helen Rodolph. She wore a gown of white silk net embroidered in silver, over a foundation of heavy white satin. Her trimmy veil of white tulle fell to the hem of her long court train of white satin, and was held in place by orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was composed of orchids and lilies of the valley.

"Miss Rodolph, maid of honor, was gowned in pink tulle, hung with white chiffon turtles embroidered in blue and pink roses intermingled with blue blossoms.

"Mrs. Rodolph, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of black jetted net with roses embroidered in iridescent beads, over ashes of roses satin. George O'Connor supported McCandless as groomsman.

"After an elaborate wedding supper, the young couple departed amid showers of confetti and good wishes, for their honeymoon through Southern California. They have leased a home in Adams Point for the next three months, after which their plans for the future will be definitely determined. They may go to Honolulu to live later."

The Oakland Tribune adds: "Miss Rodolph's engagement to Mr. McCandless was announced last season following a visit of the former to Philadelphia, where Mr. McCandless is a student at the University of Pennsylvania, had been seriously injured in an automobile accident. On his recovery he came to California and has been the guest of his brother-in-law and sister at their home in Fairmount avenue for the past few months. The romance began during a visit of the Rodolphs to Honolulu last summer. After the honeymoon the young couple will occupy an attractive residence at Adams Point, which the groom has leased for several months, and later in the year they may go to Honolulu. Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John McCandless of Honolulu, parents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. James McCandless, his uncle and aunt, who are visiting San Francisco from their home in the islands."

K. Oishi, a Japanese author who has been studying the American-Japanese question for several years, arrived in Honolulu last week to investigate the phases of the question as presented in Hawaii. He will speak in the Asahi theater tomorrow night upon the subject. The address will be in Japanese.
